

Westminster Foundation for Democracy (WFD) is pleased to announce that two election observation trainings are going to be conducted the week of 5-9 June 2017 in London (at Artillery House, 11-19 Artillery Row London, SW1P 1RT).

- A two-day short-term observer (STO) training will take place on Monday 5 and Tuesday 6 June 2017. This is suitable for people who have never done short-term election observation before or who have done 1-2 STO missions.
- A three-day long-term observer (LTO) training will take place on Wednesday 7 to Friday 8 June 2017. This is suitable for people who have been an STO for a minimum of 2 missions or who have done 1-2 LTO missions.

WFD will engage two international and well-reputed trainers, and these trainings will be in collaboration and according to the training methodology of Election Observation and Democratic Support (EODS), the training body for EU EOMs.

The cost of these trainings is £150 per day, therefore £300 for the two-day STO training and £450 for the three-day LTO training. WFD will NOT cover any transportation or accommodation costs or make the necessary arrangements. Lunch and two coffee breaks will be provided each day.

Attached are the separate application forms for the STO training and the LTO training, to be completed and returned to the following email address: Miguel.Casteneda@wfd.org by Friday 21 April 2017 at 17:00 GMT.

Please note that WFD will ONLY contact the successful applicants, by 28 April 2017 CoB.
